

ABSTRACT

5 The present invention relates to a composition for the inhibition or prevention of a bone mineral density reduction, or food and drink for use in such application, comprising isoxanthohumol or an isomerized hop extract as an active ingredient. According to the present invention, a bone mineral density reduction can be inhibited or prevented while avoiding a problem of side effect which may be induced by using an estrogen preparation.